

CONSENT FORM

Smart Food Recommendation App

You are invited to be in a class project investigation of UI Design - CSCI 5115. We ask that you read this form and ask any questions you may have before agreeing to take part. This class project is being conducted by: Rawda Ghalban, Zoe Berrier, Yusra Hersi, Rishi Selvakumaran., Mahmoud Ahmed, and Mohammed Salem, in the Computer Science Department at the University of Minnesota.

Procedures:

1. Introduction – I'll introduce myself and explain the purpose of this research.
2. Consent Form – I'll review the form with you, answer any questions, and ensure you agree to participate.
3. Interview – I'll ask you to complete a series of tasks in the prototype
4. Note-Taking – I'll take notes on your interactions with the prototype
5. Feedback – We will walk through the UI design of the prototype, giving you an opportunity to give your feedback, comments, and suggestions on the UI design.
6. Conclusion – I'll wrap up the interview and thank you for your time.

Risks and Benefits of Being in the Study:

Some risks are privacy, data misinterpretation, and emotional discomfort. There is a risk of information being shared with project group members and supervisors. There is a risk of information being misinterpreted during the interview. The benefit of participating in this study is to help find and fix problems in the prototype. Participation in this study ensures decisions made are based on the user's needs.

Data Sharing:

The information you provide through this project may be recorded or transcribed into text. Data that you provide as part of this class project will be shared with the following people: the other students on the project team, and the course staff. No names or personal data will be shared.
